

99% Usahaku Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy arranges our policies and procedures in collecting, using, and disclosing user information. By using this service, customers agree to the data collection, removal, processing, storing, disclosure, and other uses explained in this Privacy Policy. 99% Usahaku is following the general standard to protect the information given to 99% Usahaku, both during the transition and admission. 99% Usahaku is fully aware that user information is private. Therefore, 99% Usahaku is committed to protecting the confidentiality of that information.

- Information from Users

There are two categories of user information: 1) personal data that you submit voluntarily during registration and 2) information gathered when you use our service. Personal data is any information related to the user including but not limited to name, contact number, email address, and social media.

- Information Usage

99% Usahaku will use the information as stated above, both individually and collectively, for this service specifically and other 99% Usahaku services generally, such as but not limited to service planning, research, design, and marketing, assisting the law enforcer, government, or legal entity, complying to the Indonesian law, and also court order. The information that are disclosed in a public area will become public information. We ask all users to be fully aware of the information you give out on the public pages.

- Sharing Information to a Third Party

99% Usahaku does not sell, rent, exchange, or grant authority for a third party who is not committed to protecting your data privacy. However, 99% Usahaku is under contract with many other companies to provide various services that will enrich users' experience in using this service. These companies are prohibited from using the data given to them unless the purpose is related to this service and they are not allowed to share nor sell these data.

- Information Security

In order to prevent any access from an unauthorized party, keep the data accuracy and make sure the information is being used for the right purpose only, 99% Usahaku is committed to maintaining the security by using the physical, electronic, and managerial procedure to protect the information we have.

- Cooperation with the Law Process

99% Usahaku can disclose any personal information when we are ordered by the law, or if it is deemed necessary to 1) comply to the law or court process; 2) protect and maintain our copyright; 3) protect our website from violation; or 4) protect our users' or public's personal and property security (if you gave out fake information or pretended to be someone else, we can share any information about you as a part of the investigation on your action).

- Other Information

This Privacy Policy is subject to change at any time. Every change will be displayed on this page. Therefore, we ask all users to access this page from time to time to be aware of the change (if any). This Privacy Policy is presented in some different languages. If there is any interpretation difference or dispute, the Indonesian version shall be used.

By using this service, all users agree to abide to this Privacy Policy. If you do not agree with this Privacy Policy, you are free to stop using 99% Usahaku services.